SE801 Senaptec Quad Strobe

Quads are the next generation of stroboscopic eyewear designed to improve reaction time, spatial awareness, balance, and visuomotor skills. Using liquid crystal technology, the lenses flicker between clear and opaque, removing visual information and forcing an individual to process more efficiently. The Senaptec Quad Strobe eyewear allows the user to select regions of strobing to customize a performance or therapy activity.

The new Quad Strobes offer all the capabilities of the basic units and much more, significantly improving the precision in applications. In this new version, each lens in the Senaptec Quad Strobe is segmented into quadrants.

From the glasses themselves or using the Senaptec Strobe App, the user can activate each region independently and customize the occluding patterns desired, an incredible breakthrough that further enhances strobe eyewear capability and uses.

For sport performance, the Senaptec Quad Strobe can be programmed to the specific visual demands of the sport. With the Senaptec Quad Strobes, you can block the medial visual field and Strobe your peripheral vision. If in training, you need the player to keep their eyes up, then the segmented lenses can be easily programmed to consistently block the lower field of view while strobing the upper region.

The Senaptec Strobe is designed to train the connections between an individual's eyes, brain, and body. Using liquid crystal technology, the lenses flicker between clear and opaque, removing visual information and forcing the individual to process more efficiently. The Senaptec Strobe can be integrated into existing sports training drills and exercises, or to vision therapy protocols as an uploading technique.

As an athlete, the strobes take your training to another level. The curved liquid crystal lenses provides a full 180 degree field of view allowing users to enhance their visuals skills in the training room, or on the field of play! Improve balance, anticipation, and reaction to gain the competitive edge! These are a must own training aid for any therapy room or athletic training center!
